when that steamer was coming down the river from Hankow. The Magistrate said

Captain Peters had acted leniently in prosecuting him under the Summary Procedure

Act, instead of for a felony. In the latter case he would have been liable to penal servitude for life, and could not have got less than two years' imprisonment. Captain Peters had entered proceedings against the man under the Imperial Law, but was allowed to withdraw these and prosecute the case as a minor misdemeanour, he having reason to believe the man had only been a tool in the hands of others.

THE CHINA MAIL. HONGKONG, MONDAY, JULY 21, 1879.

THE result of the trial of Fung Ayew, for having neglected to provide for the necessities of his child, must receive the unqualified approval of every rightthinking man. Apart from the satisfaction which must be felt at this heartless father receiving the just punishment of his criminal neglect, the case of the Victor Emanuel boatman has, however that the authorities have at last got hold of one of the most fruitful sources of poverty, crime and immorality in the Colony; and that they have now taken wholesome and much-needed action in regard thereto. Remarking upon this subject just a month ago, we stated that the frequent desertion of wives by their unprincipled husbands was one of the chief causes which produced and maintained the Social Evil in our midst. The sad tale brought out in the case which excited so much interest amongst the native floating population on Saturday is, we fear, a true recital of facts which occur all too often in Hongkong. For at half past 5 o'clock, for Practice on Murthe last twenty or thirty years we have gay Wharf with the Apparatus. Regulation been but groping in the dark as regards Shirts and Belmets must be worn. the part of the Chinese; and if the late C. D.-O. Commission has done little of practical value towards the solution of this port on Saturday at noon, and passed the difficulties surrounding the regulation of vice, it must be admitted that the Report of the Commissioners has given. a wider scope and a stronger impetus to the investigation of the causes of the sad social condition which they were called upon to consider than have hitherto existed. It may strike many residents who are THE Superintendent of the Eastern Exteninterested in such matters as strange that so few of these cases come to light. Un-Europe, sid Nuples | to Saigon, Straits | fortunately for the ends of justice, the cowardly husbands generally emigrate to foreign countries, and, forgetting their first obligations as men and as citizens, leave their wives and children to starvation or worse misfortunes. In this there is a strong argument for the encouragement of emigration of men and their Malacca-Singapore section, and until this families, which has so frequently been is completed telegrams for Malacca will go cargo amounted in value to $111,448. The urged by those who were fully alive to via Penang. the 29th Instant, with Mails to and the consequences of separation both in the emigrants' and the immigrants' country: But while the separations do take place under present conditions, and the departure of a married emigrant but frequently means desertion, it is digity desirable that whetever estima is for molicionals pitting emery is our of the renegade husbands to a sense of their duty. If such measures could be adopted, a great step would be gained in ameliorating the social life of Hongkong. This is, however, a more remote sweep of the influence which desertion of wives has upon society. What the Crown and the Court have just done in the case of Fung Ayew is what came nearest to their hand; and the effect of that action cannot but be most salutary. Hitherto the unprincipled native, in strange hostility to all good Chinese teaching, has gloried in the immunity enjoyed from all interference in such matters in this Colony, and has abandoned all the good maxims of the Sages according to his own sweet will. He has ignored the fact, and has not very frequently been reminded of it, that the strength of the Chinese nation consists and has grown out of the grand family system laid down by Confucius. Now, however, he will have the possibility of punishment pressed upon his notice; and it is most earnestly to be hoped that he will profit thereby. This subject, as we previously observed, has attracted the observation of the worthy Chief Justice, and it is one in which all the goodness of his strong nature may well be employed. While not prepared to go quite so far as his Lordship does in reference to the murabsence of evidence, it is most refreshing to note the earnest and hearty manner in which the Judge dealt with the prisoner before him, and we are glad to observe that the native journals have given due prominence to the sentence imposed. The Chief Justice, after informing the prisoner that he had doubtless caused the death of his own child continued :- "The Jury have given you the benefit of the doubt, and you have not been found guilty of murder, But had they seen fit to bring in such a verdict against you, I should, with less compunction than I have felt on some other occasions, have sentenced you to be hung. The offence of which you have been found guilty is one which to my mind is insufficiently provided for by the law; I have no doubt that in future the law will be brought to provide more against this class of offences It is my duty to go by the law just now as I find it." The sentence of the Court (two years' hard labour and a fine of 250, in default further imprisonment till paid) will help to impress the gravity of the offence upon the publie mind. A Chinese proclamation apropos of the trial and the evil thus sought

PROBABLY nearly all tourists who have visited this country, says an American contemporary, have made the journey from New York, via Newport (the most beautiful watering-place in America), to Boston, by the steamers Bristol or Providence, of the Fall River line. A trip by these boats, the most magnificent specimens in existence of naval architecture, as applied to inland or coast pavigation, with its accompaniments of choice music, charming society, combined with every luxury obtainable in a niet-class hotel, is always enjoyable. The managers, probably with a view. of making, if possible, their line still more attractive, now publish a daily journal for gratuitous distribution among their passengers. It is a neat little eight-page sheet, and bears evidence of some literary ability in its compilation. A paper for the exclusive use of travellers is decidedly a novelty in the journalistic world, and we are sure that copies of it will often be preserved by strangers for the purpose of yesterday (Sunday). She may be expected showing on their return home a striking example of the fertility of American entere

OUR Pacific Coast trade with China and Japan is of growing importance, but with the former country runs mainly to flour and the great Chinese panacea ginsong. Thus the Oceanic, which lately left San Francisco had flour to the value of $60,764, and ginseng to that of $28,585. Clocks figured in the cargo to the amount of $1,200 for Construction and Maintenance Company's China, and $7,000 for Japan; shrimps to the value of $8,028 for China. Japan took a great variety of goods, leather, druggists' sundries and horses, $4,500. The whole San Francisco Volumel of Commerce calls attention to the fact that of this amount $75,170 was shipped by Chinese merchants in San Francisco. There is a wider field for Americans with Japan, but the position of the Chinese shippers, so far as the to fotfeit all wages due him some and, by their language and engineer to it to all for maildanale pitterns succept a san of the from their - I merican Mail and Sener Pacific trade in concerned, is too hadged in

Miss Clara Stanley's Opera and Opera-Bouffe Company made their first appearance here in the City Hall on Saturday evening, and had a highly flattering reception. The hall was well filled, and the audience were not sparing of their plaudits, Miss Stanley being particularly well received in several of " her songs. The sparkling Comic Opera, by Lécooq, "Giroflé-Girofla," was placed on the boards, the prima donna, of course, in the title-role. The song "See How it Sparkles," was beautifully and powerfully rendered; and the audience were not satisfied until she had twice answered to their hearty calls of encore. Mr G. Claremont, as Mourzouk, is a source of great strength to the company; he has a very fine light baritone voice, and knows how to use it. He is a capital actor as well, and his first appearance, with his ridiculous staff of attendants, was very successful. His makeup could not have been better. Miss Bertha Hoctor and Miss Agnes Draeger, as Aurore and Marisquin respectively, filled their parts creditably. Mr Rollings made a very good Don Bolero, and did not a little to throw some life into the piece. The only other performer worth mentioning (the "super" parts were filled by Amateurs, who had nothing to do but join occasionally in the Chorus) was Mr Everard, who took the character of Paquita. His whole make-up and acting as the maid of Madame Aurors, were capital specimens of burlesque. The company appear again on Wednesday evening, when they will give Lécooq's "My New Maid," the principal act in the "Lily of Killarney" and Bellini's opera " La Som-

An instance of the gort of treatment to which accused prisoners are so frequently in the Wushih-shan case, but find it too condemned in this country occurred only a few days ago at a military station called Wang Po, near Sharp Peak. It appears that a soldier belonging to the garrison stationed at that place, under command of the Min Ngan Brigadier-General, was the villagers. He was first observed by a little girl, who remonstrated with him, whereupon the soldier slapped her on the face. The girl's mother, observing this, made an outery and brought out a number of her neighbours, by whom the soldier was severely beaten and deprived of his queu. The villagers seeing that matters had gone too far-for according to the law of China it is a most serious offence to deprive a man of his queu—invented a story that the soldier had attempted to commit a criminal assault on the girl, and handed him over to the custody of the Min-heien's underlings, by whom the unfortunate man was, without any preliminary trial, condemned to 500 blows with a heavy bamboo -with a view to extort confession of a alleged, perfectly innocent. Death resulted from this barbarous torture, and the Brigadier-General has, we understand, since satisfaction, it is to be feared, from the civil authorities.

THE WU-SHIH-SHAN CASE.

JUDGMENT BY CHIEF JUSTICE FRENCH. We have received a copy of the judgment long for publication. We append, however, the lines and basis of His Lordship's reasoning, and the full text of the finding. of August, 1867, would have to show that The result cannot but be satisfactory, and he bona fide required the property for himcaught cutting some rushes belonging to will, there is every reason to believe, do good in different ways. Writing about the case some three months ago we remarked that "if by any fair process of reasoning, or by any acknowledged rules of equity, the Missionaries are found to have the worst of the case, it would be a thousand pities were the decision given against the Chinese, and it would do more harm to the cause of Missions (which is that of truth and right) than half-a-dozen riots. If, on the other hand, the Missionaries have right on their side-and, under the Treaty, that right must be a legal right-it would be a wrong That they have not done. No point was crime of which the prisoner was, it is now from a local, as well as a national point of view that these clerical citizens should not obtain their due." We agree with him that the any other ground according to the law of trial will have a healthy effect, that this judgment against the Missionaries, who have been legally in the wrong, will in itself be a useful lesson to their class. We do not believe that as a rule there is any inmorning. I was informed that he died at did not speak during the whole of the time, | week's rates. Any such weakness as this, the present had been burnt down in 1870, was not decision, it is to be hoped, will effectually shown to be an act of forfeiture on curb, and in this way, as in others, it cannot but be productive of good. The effect, in a word, of the judgment is that the petition of 1850, and the building of other is dismissed, so far as it concerns the agreement of 1866, the two priests subscribing to which are dead; and the plaintiffs of the land comprised in the agreement of have to pay costs on this head. As re. August, 1867, might be ascertained and gards the other prayers of the petition the declared. No declaration that the court whole may be summed up in the declaration | could make under the head of relief here that the agreement of 1867 is still in force, the validity of that document being proved by Chinese law, the les loci rei sitae govern- they not being before the court. Such a ing all matters relating to land. Thus the declaration in this suit might give rise to plaintiffs will be entitled to resume posses- greater difficulties than it was intended to sion on their bond fide requiring the same for the purpose of the Tao Shan Temple, verbally to the Missionary, George Smith, and giving three calendar months' notice in 1855, the evidence, in my view, shows thereof to the defendant; failing their doing that the land on which the college stood property for the term of his natural life. - It | was a part of that land. Upon the hearing will be remembered that Mr Hayllar, Q.O., of the cause, auth rities in the English of Hongkong, was counsel for the plaintiffs, | courts or law were cited, and it may be and Mr Haunen, of Shanghai, for the defendant. After a long statement of the pleadings, and the evidence and arguments on the various points raised, a synopsis of which we have already given in these columns, his Lordship remarks, that the first consideration which arises in the determination of this case is the principle which is to govern the Court in interpreting the contract of August, 1867.

[I'his is the agreement by which Mr Wolfe agreed with the directors of the Tao Shan Kwan Temple to rent from them two houses formerly, in the 30th year Tau Kwan, rented by the Missionaries Welton and Jackson, situated respectively at the back and at the front of the left hand side of the Tao Shan Kwan; also four rooms on the right hand side of the Tao Shan Kwan, going straight in, which were originally rented in the fifth year Haien Feng to the missionaries Welton and Fearnley; also a small piece of land formerly hired under a verbal agreement by the missionary George Smith: all for a yearly sum of $132. The first instalment to be paid at once to the Trade O mmittee for transmission through the directors of the Temple to the Taoist priests, to be used in the service of the Temple. It was agreed that the same sum be paid quarterly in advance according | demurrer had been allowed. to the English calendar to the Trade Com-different parties. The question is, his Lordship remarks, is this document to be interpreted by the law of England, or by the law of China? The contract was executed in Ohina; and it relates to land situate in China; and in conformity with the general principle applicable to cases involving the co: struction of contracts relating to land, which is that the law of the place where the land, the subject of the contract, is situate, governs its construction, the law of Uhina applicable to the contract in question must govern its construction. The mode of procedure of the Court which is resorted to for the purpose of enforcing the contract is to be adopted, and the law to be applied in interpreting the contract must be given in evidence to the Court as a fast by professional or official witnesses, insempch as, since their position requires sufficient knowledge to prove the law, it may be presumed that they possess it.

His Lordship refers on this point to the Sussex Peerage, Case, 11 Clarke & Fin. 85 ; Duchess di Sora v. Phillips, 2 New R. 553 | Taylor on Evid. 1280 A 4th Edit and also quotes from Burge's Commentaries on Cotonial and Foreign Law, (vol. 4 para. 2, ch. 12, p. 577), Story's Conflict of Laws, sec. 424, 2 edit. sec. 428, sec. 435, and sec. 440. He quotes the evidence of the two witnesses who were called on behalf of the plaintiffs to prove the law applicable perty comprised in the agreement of Aug. to the contract. Ting Kis Wal (Viceroy 1867, subject to the payment of the rent of Chihlil, and Ching Che Yeo (Hau thereby reserved, quarterly in advance, and Kwe District Magistrate). ... lord wanted the land for himself he could resume possession. Neither of those witnesses was either saked or expressed any opinion as to the right of the landlord to take back the premises, if he did not himself require them. The conclusion at which I arrive on their evidence is that the landlord, in order to establish the right to the resumption of property leased in such terms as those mentioned in the agreement self, or, in the present case, for thepurposes of the temple. But there is no averment in the petition, nor is there any proof of such fact. The absence of any evidence that the plaintiffs required the property comprised in the agreement of August, 1867, either for themselves or for the purposes of the Tao Shan Kwan, seems to me to prevent the Court from making a decree declaratory of the plaintiff's present right to resume possession of that property. It the plaintiffs relied upon the law of China in support of their right under the agreement of August, 1867, to take back the property therein comprised, they ought at all events to have shown by evidence that they required such property for the purposes of the Tao Shan Kwan Temple. taken at the bar in avoidance to this extent of the agreement of August, 1867, that two, at all events, of the houses Nor was there any evidence to show that the agreement of August, 1867, was void on China, Also, no evidence was given on the part of the plaintiffs as to the person or persons (if any) on whom Wolfe's interest in the agreement of August, 1867 would devolve in case of his death, before the property therein comprised was required for the purposes of the temple of tion prayed that it might be ordered and decreed that the defendant had by hi unauthorized and wrongful dealings with the land and buildings comprised in the agreement of August, 1867, forfeited al his right and title in and to such lands and buildings. - No evidence was given on the plaintiffs' part to show that the defendant had so dealt with the property comprised in the agreement of August, 1867, as to ed. The rebuilding of the Mission Louse in its present form after the former one the part of the desendant according to the law of China. The removal, too, of the houses comprised in the agreement structures of a different character in their place had occurred prior to August, 1867. The petition also prayed that the boundaries asked would be conclusive and binding on the rights of the adjoining land owners, obviate. With reference to the land let this, the defendant is entitled to hold the which was burnt down in August, 1878, asked what would be the opinion of the court on the agreement of August, 1867, if it had to decide on the validity or invalidity of that agreement by reference to English jaw exclusively, and not with any reference to Chinese law. If I am right in the view I have expressed, that the case is groverned by Chinese law, any expression of opinion of mine on the head now auggested would be of little avail, and perhaps out of place. I may here observe that the case itself is an anomalous one, and nor likely to be of value as a precedent. Not is the value of the interests involved in it

The order made by the court is as follows: Dismiss the petition so far as the same relates to the agreement of September, 1866, against the defendant John Richard Wolfe, and as against him as being sued on behalf of the English Church Missionary Society, with costs to be paid by the plaintiffs to the defendant and to the English Church Missionary Society in the same manner as if the petition had, as soon as it was amended, been demurred to so far as it related to the said agreement of September, 1866, and such
